

CEQA LAWYERS CONTACTED REGARDING DAGGETT SOLAR PROJECT

Julie Hamilton

Julie Hamilton Law. Vickie left message; no reply.

Pat Rowe

Center for Biological Diversity

Jack has talked with him and sent extensive background material. He will be helping,

Dean Wallraff (Sunland)

Advocates for the Environment

“Southern California Environment and Land-Use Litigation: We litigate environmental and land-use issues in Southern California, primarily in Los Angeles County on our own behalf and on behalf of local citizen’s groups and other environmental organizations. We have represented the Sierra Club, California Native Plant Society, Center for Biological Diversity, Wishtoyo Foundation, SCOPE, and Friends of the Santa Clara River in such litigation.

We are the principal organisers of Cool World Institute to connect climate-change litigators world-wide.”

- Vickie and Jack talked with him at length.. One of his suggestions was to meet with and lobby Supervisor Lovingood but not on the legal issues. Go for why it is bad for the community, for the social and economic issues. The legal and CEQA issues can be in comments and at the Appeal. Subsequently, I have made an appointment with Lovingood – waiting to hear when it will be.

He echoes what Michael Tuerpe from LAFCO said about needing to thoroughly study the mitigation issues.

Leibold, McClendon & Mann (Irvine)

Vickie left a message on 10/24/19. No reply.

Chatten-Brown & Carstens (Hermosa Beach)

Vickie talked with Amy Minter who was sympathetic but said her firm didn’t have time for us right now. She gave me names of other CEQA attorneys to contact. One was Babak Nafiey, who Pat Flanagan recommended. I called, left message on 10/29/19; no reply. The other was Leibold, McClendon – (see above)

Miller Starr Regalia (Newport Beach)
